WELLS & CANN

COMPANY PROFILE

Wells & Cann is an international metals and commodities consultancy founded by Jack Wells and Michael Cann, with a presence in Dubai, London and Dar es Salaam. We connect buyers, sellers and producers through a personal, transparent approach to sourcing and trade.

Building on the founders' experience at Base Vision Metals, we specialise in copper wire, copper concentrate, copper cathodes and gold. Our relationships with suppliers and partners across Africa, Europe and Asia enable us to source opportunities and support transactions from initial introductions through to delivery.

Our experience goes beyond brokerage. We have worked directly on physical commodity transactions, coordinating independent testing, documentation, bonded warehousing, logistics, shipment arrangements and payment milestones. We understand the practical challenges involved in moving goods and bringing a deal to completion.

In a market where misleading offers, unreliable documentation and complex payment arrangements can expose businesses to risk, we help clients assess opportunities, identify concerns and establish clear transaction procedures. Independent verification and direct engagement with the parties involved are central to our approach.

With Wells & Cann, there is always a person behind the business. Clients have a dedicated contact and access to face-to-face support, combining local relationships with international commercial experience.

Our aim is simple: to bring clarity, accountability and practical support to metals and commodities trading, helping our clients move forward with confidence.
